TO WIPE OUT PEONAGE

Mrs. Quackenbos to Begin Campaign Against Practice.

AN OUTLINE OF HER PLANS

She Thinks Immigration Into the South Will Not Suffer Material Set-Backs from Exposure of Oppression on Foreign Labor.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 23—An outline of her plans for stamping out peonage in the south was given out Friday by Mrs. Mary Grace Quackenbos, the only woman special assistant to the attorney general of the United States. Mrs. Quackenbos was recently assigned to investigate peonage in southern states.

"One thing which I am compelled to fight against," said Mrs. Quackenbos, is the fact that few persons as yet realize my motive and purpose. With the proper support I believe I can completely wipe out peonage in the south within the next year."

Mrs. Quackenbos' prediction is based partly on her belief that peonage is not at all general. In her opinion immigration into the south will not suffer material setbacks from the exposure of this oppression on foreign labor. She says that charges of oppression in the south recently made in foreign countries, are almost wholly due to letters which immigrants have written home and that a government investigation, by removing the cause for such letters, will benefit immigration.

Friday Mrs. Quackenbos arrived in Jackson, Miss., to prosecute a peonage charge there against O. B. Crittenden, a planter. When this case is settled her investigation will begin in Louisiana.

CHARGE OF GRAND LARCENY.

Three Officials of a Suspended New York Bank Indicted.

New York, Nov. 23—The King county grand jury, which is investigating the recent management of the suspended Borough bank, of Brooklyn Thursday returned indictments charging larceny and other offenses against Howard Maxwell, who was president of the institution when its doors were closed. Arthur D. Campbell, the deposed cashier, and William Gow, a director, who holds a controlling share of the bank stock. These three men are jointly charged with grand larceny in the first degree in the misappropriation of $145,000 deposited by the executors of the Carrie M. McGuire estate. There is a second indictment for grand larceny against Maxwell, who is also indicted for forgery in the third degree. A second indictment against Campbell charges forgery in the third degree. In addition to the grand larceny charge Gow is indicted on four counts alleging misdemeanors in the matter of overdrafts. He is charged with having overdrawn his account to the amount of nearly $24,000. Maxwell also, it is alleged, secured overdrafts aggregating nearly $73,000.

Following the report of the jury the three men were arrested and arraigned. All pleaded not guilty, and were held for a hearing.

Spanish War Veterans to Meet.

Atlanta, Nov. 23—Camp Brumby Spanish War Veterans, held an interesting meeting Thursday evening and many new members joined. Commander John W. Cox announced that the department commander, Charles W. Parker, of Elberton, Ga., had called a state convention to be held in Macon, Ga., on Nov. 27, and that all Spanish war veterans are invited to attend. Holiday rates will be in effect.

DEATH AT DANCE.

Albany, Ga., Nov. 23.—With all lights extinguished, pistols volleying, terrified women screaming, and the injured groaning, a country dance at the home of George Vines, one mile from Flint, in Mitchell county, wound up between 11 and 12 o'clock Thursday night in a carnival of blood.

When the smoke of battle lifted and lamps were relighted it was found that Will Shiver, member of a prominent Mitchell county family and a young man highly thought of, was dead with a bullet in in his brain; Peter Luckey and Floyd Fowler were painfully wounded by pistol balls; Mack Ford and Hillie Shiver were insensible from the effect of frightful beatings, and several others were injured.

The coroner is making an investigation of the case, but at last reports no verdict had been returned. A large number of witnesses will be examined and there will probably be some delay in reaching a verdict. There is a good deal of doubt as to who fired the shot which killed Shiver, owing to the fact that the lights were all extinguished at the time the shooting began.

About thirty shots were fired in the crowded room in which the dance was being held, and it was miraculous that many more people were not killed or seriously injured.

PLEA OF INSANITY.

Defense in Bradley Trial Introduces Expert Testimony.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The defense in the trial of Mrs. Annie M. Bradley, charged with the murder of former Senator Arthur M. Brown, of Utah, in this city last December, Friday endeavored to strengthen its plea of insanity by introducing expert testimony on this subject. Several alienists of note were present expecting to take the stand during the day.

Although it is not claimed that at the present time Mrs. Bradley is insane, the experts will be put on the stand to show that for some time previously and on the date of the tragedy Mrs. Bradley was irresponsible, caused by the several criminal operations, and by the many wrongs which Brown is alleged to have heaped upon her, culminating in his change of heart. As the case progresses interest in its increases.

Long before the doors to the court room were opened a crowd of men and women had collected on the outside waiting an opportunity to hear some of the testimony and get a glimpse of the frail little woman who has achieved so much notoriety.

Atlanta, Nov. 23—Charlie Andrews, a negro, was scalded to death, and Jim Smith, a white man, and Cicero Fielding, a negro, were seriously burned while working on a boiler at the plant of the Atlanta Gas Light company Thursday afternoon.

The men were in the fire box of one of the boilers, having entered in order to clean it out. It is alleged that the boiler, which is one of the 125-horsepower boilers of the plant, had no fire under it for five days and it was not known that the water was boiling. While the men were at work in some manner they broke the 2-inch exhaust pipe and turned upon themselves a stream of hot water. Andrews, who was scalded to death almost instantly. Smith and the second negro however, were rescued before they had been injured fatally.

The wage scale of 20 cents an hour for ten hours, it was announced, would be reduced to 17½ cents an hour for nine hours. FIRST BREAK OCCURS.

Alabama Legislature's Onslaught on Liquor and Railroads.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 23.—The first break in the onslaught of the legislature on intoxicating liquors and railroads has come in the failure to pass a bill to lower the rates on excess baggage and provide against sale or distributing liquors in clubs.

The first bill was killed on a straight vote in the senate and the latter in the temperance committee of the senate too late to get it from th eadverse report.

Members who had voted for the railroad measures openly said that they had enough and would not pass the baggage bill while some of the most ardent prohibitionists were against the club house bill for the reason that it would be difficult to interpretation and raise every member of a club a criminal if any other member distributed liquor to Brisk Demand for Currency.

New York, Nov. 23—So brisk is the demand for currency that it was dealt in on the curb Thursday and those in need employed brokers to bid for it. RIOTING IN LOUISVILLE.

Result of Railway Co.s Attempt To Operate Its Lines.

Louisville, Nov. 23.—Several disturbances, two of them developing Thursday night to fair-sized riots, broke out in widely separated quarters of Louisville, as a result of the first attempt of the Louisville Railway company to operate all its lines after nightfall.

As the result of the disturbances, a number of persons, some of them passengers, were more or less painfully hurt, but so far as known none was seriously injured.

The most serious disturbance occurred at Twelfth and Oak streets, shortly after nightfall. Strike sympathizers soaped the track and stopped several cars. The last car to be thus obstructed was derailed and a battle between several police officers and the crowd followed. A number of shots were fired. Several persons received slight injuries.

At Story and Frankfort avenue a dozen cars were stoned and some of the passengers received cuts from flying glass. At Twenty-fifth and Portland avenue a man fired a shot gun into a car, slightly wounding a woman passenger.

Six Stenographers of Chicago Have a Thrilling Experience by Being Imprisoned in an Air-Tight Vault, but Were Finally Rescued.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Six young women stenographers employed by the American Steel and Wire company had a terrifying experience Thursday as the result of a prank played on them by an office boy.

There are thirty young women employed in the order department transcribing invoices on the typewriters. During the noon hour they frequently chorouses and play parlor games until the return of their superiors.

Thursday six of the young women conceived a variation of the program and adjourned to a cavernous steel vault to sing. They left the door partly open.

Just when the chorus was in full forth in reverberating volume, Willie Osterfelt, the office boy, stole up to the vault, banged the door shut and gave the combination knob a whirl.

The song of the imprisoned chorus died away in a shriek while six pairs of feminine hands beat on the steel door. The other young women stenographers sprang to the rescue and Willie hastily decamped. The vault was airtight, and none of the girls knew the combination; in fact, it was known only to A. P. Pratt, head of the filing department, and he was at his lunch.

One cool-headed young woman found the janitor and rushed him to the spot with pickax and crowbar.

A hole was soon made in the vault wall through which the prisoners received air. They said they had almost suffocated.

Mr. Pratt returned later and released the six girls.

One of the stenographers suffered from a nervous shock as a result of the experience and was sent home in a carriage.

The office boy was discharged.

MANY PEOPLE WILL BE PRESENT

Witnesses and Others from Levy County Will Come by the Score, and It Is Expected That the Trial Will be One of Unusual Interest.

The coming week's session of the circuit court promises to be among the most sensational and interesting ever held in this circuit, being the arraignment and trial of Bascom Lowman and his son, Geo. B. Lowman, charged with the murder of Dunlap Phinney at Raleigh some six months ago.

From the evidence which was obtained at the preliminary hearing, it was stated that the Lowmans, who had been "laying" for Phinney, met him in a store, and immediately after the meeting, had pumped him full of buck-shot without provocation, notwithstanding that "Old Man" Phinney had argued with them until he had gotten out to where his horse was standing, and as he attempted to mount the horse he got the dose.

This tragedy so incensed the people of Levy county that public sentiment appeared against the Lowmans, who were not arrested for two or three days after the tragedy. They were taken to jail at Bronson, where the feeling was so high at the time that it was impossible to hold a trial, without comment, and finally the case was brought to Alachua county on a change of veane.

This case will no doubt attract a great deal of interest in this section, and it is expected that the city will be filled with witnesses and those interested next week.

A ROCKY POINT FROLIC.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Crown Entertain Many of Their Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Crown of Rocky Point, who enjoy a reputation for their hospitality, entertained a number of their friends from Gainesville and Rocky Point Friday night at a cane grinding and chicken pillau. There were many present, about twenty from Gainesville taking advantage of the invitation to come and enjoy the hospitality of the Crowns.

The Gainesville contingency returned to the city at an early hour, a tired but most contented and happy lot.

What Does Your Mirror Say?

Does it cheerfully report an abundance of beautiful, well-kept hair or does it regretfully tell the story of hair neglect?

Your mirror may be anxious to please, but if you permit your friends to see dull, brittle or lusterless hair, with possibly dandruff and falling hair, your mirror will have to reflect the sad condition.

All of these unfortunate EFFECTS can be overcome by destroying their CAUSE with

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The ORIGINAL Remedy that "Kills the Dandruff Germ"

Dandruff, with its consequent hair injury and hair loss, is now known to be a highly contagious germ disease. It is caused by an invisible growth of vegetable character that finds lodgment in the sebaceous glands of the scalp. This growth disturbs the functions of the sebaceous glands, causing excessive oiliness or extreme dryness of the hair. It also sets up an inflammatory process that extends down the follicle to the papilla, where the adhesions are loosened and the hair slips out. The value of Newbro's Herpicide in such cases is quite extraordinary. Its intelligent use will correct every condition short of chronic baldness and thus permit the hair to resume its natural luster and abundance.

The subject for today at 11 o'clock is "The Apostle's Doctrine," and "How to Get Into God's Church" is the subject at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Every subject that has been discussed is of vital importance and should have the most careful consideration of all people. Mr. Dunn is very careful to prove by the Bible every point of doctrine he maintains, thus convincing his hearers that he is building on the "Sure Foundation."

Let the whole town go, hear and decide for themselves. Services will continue throughout the entire week, each evening at seven o'clock.

Always Was Sick.

When a man says he always was sick—troubled with a cough that lasted all winter—what would you think if he should say he never was sick since using Ballard's Horehound Syrup? Such a man exists. Mr. J. C. Clark, Denver, Colorado, writes: "For years I was troubled with a severe cough that would last all winter. This cough left me in a miserable condition. I tried Ballard's Horehound Syrup and have not had a sick day since. That's what it did for me." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

PROF. SMITH HAD NO PLACE TO TALK

Invited to Speak on Important Matter, But No Hall Provided.

PROF. SMITH WAS DISAPPOINTED

He Had Talked for Ten Days in Succession, Excepting Sundays, But Declared He Was Anxious to Tell the People of This Section Something.

W. G. Smith, an expert on soils from the Bureau of Soils, Department of Agriculture, United States Government, is among the prominent visitors to this city, having arrived Friday for the purpose of delivering a lecture on soils to the people of Gainesville and Alachua county.

Prof. Smith came here on a special invitation from Hon. Frank Clark, but when he arrived an embarrassing condition confronted both Congressman Clark and the speaker, as the courtroom was occupied, and it was impossible to secure a hall, hence the address, which might have been of so much benefit to the farmers of the community, was impossible. Prof. Smith was scheduled by Col. Clark to speak from the band stand on the north side of the square; but Prof. Smith declared that no effective results could be secured from an open-air lecture, which resulted in the final calling-off of this speaking.

Later in the afternoon, however, Prof. Smith made a brief speech in the law offices of Clark & Fielding to a small group of farmers, and his remarks were listened to with great interest.

Prof. Smith, who is yet a young man, is a native of Minnesota. He is a young man of very pleasant address and amiable disposition, and it is easy to become acquainted and "feel easy" with him from the start—clever, hospitable and one whom it is easy to approach. He was born in 1871, hence is thirty-six years of age. He graduated at the University of Minnesota, at Minneapolis, 1897, and entered the Government service two years later.

During his term at the University of Minnesota Prof. Smith availed himself of the opportunity of studying life and experience at the United States Government experimental station of the State of Minnesota during his spare time, which advantage he occupied to the best of advantage in studying the soils of the country.

During the past eight years Prof. Smith, who was assigned to Southern territory, has made a special study of the soils of this country. He has studied in Maryland, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, where he has gained much from hard study and practical experience, which affords to him an excellent advantage in the study of the soils of Florida, a combination which is found in no other State.

Prof. Smith was found at the Brown House Saturday, and judging from his expression really felt sorry that he could not have delivered his lecture, notwithstanding that he has made ten addresses in as many days. "I have my whole heart in the matter," he said, "and it is too bad that the conditions were such that I could not find a place to address the people—especially the farmers—on the all-important matter which means life to them. While I realize that a great many of these farmers who know their business and are doing well, I know that I could help them in my suggestions, for I have made a study of every branch of agriculture and horticulture.

"The South has many advantages over other sections of the country in the growing of crops, notwithstanding the fact that in many sections the farmers claim their lands are worn out," remarked Prof. Smith. "In the majority of cases that their lands are worn out they are wrong. They are simply poorly tilled. That is the greatest trouble with the Southern farmer today. I have been for years. They are ambitious enough, but simply because they only break the ground, overfurrows with commercial fertilizers, actually crowd out the dirt and clods of earth, and try to make, in the proverbial passage, two blades of grass grow where only one grew before. This is a serious mistake of the farmer, and before he accomplishes a great deal in propogation he must make up his mind to plough deep and use more soil and less fertilizer.

"I do not wish to be understood by these remarks that I am an enemy to commercial fertilizers," continued Prof. Smith, "for it is the reverse. It is the exorbitant use of commercial fertilizers that I abhor—and the manufactures of these fertilizers will tell you it is a mistake. They are not made for the purpose of filling-in furrows made vacant by the removal of dirt, as many farmers believe; but they are intended merely as an invigorator of the soil, and if they are used in that manner will prove more satisfactory both to the consumer and the manufacturer.

"When the soil has been deepened by the use of deeper plows—say from eight to ten inches—your planter will revel in much better results; but his labors must be incorporated by the liberal incorporation of plenty of vegetable matter, when he will find that a very limited distribution of commercial fertilizers will give him a much better and more profitable result. The necessary things to a prolific crop is a deep stand, and liberal use of commercial fertilizer, on top of the turn-under of vegetable matter.

"There are two ways of getting vegetable matter into the soil," continued the expert. "One is a direct application of barnyard manure, ten to twenty two-horse loads to the acre, broadcast before ploughing; another is to grow leguminous crops, such as beggar weed, velvet beans, cowpeas, etc., afterwards turning them under. The pea vine has proved the most effective in Georgia, but I am rather impressed that the velvet bean and beggar-weed are the best in Florida, being the best under Florida conditions.

Long Staple Cotton.

"Your farmers will find out within the course of the next two or three years that the difference in planting long staple cotton will amount to something," said Prof. Smith. "While I have not yet had the opportunity to study this condition well, I have been in Southern Georgia where they raise long-staple cotton. I have noticed that a great, big, giant stalk with no healthy-looking bolls came up beside a little weasley stalk. This thing will not do when it comes to selecting seed and the best thing the grower can do is to take the 'pickings' from the big stalk, bottom and middle branches, not attempt to gin them, but plant the bulb and seed together in a separate field, where he will have a stand for the coming year. If he will eliminate the seed from the small plant and will continue to improve in this way, he will find in two or three years that he has gained from 10 to 15 per cent, probably more. This is not based on theoretical principles but on actual field experience.

"This application may not only be applied to high-yielding crops of the nature mentioned above, but to corn or any other crop," continued the expert. "Everything works along the same line, and you will find corn, oats, etc., less productive in proportion, but very satisfactory to the planter."

Prof. Smith expects to leave for Live Oak today, where on Monday he will address the people of Suwannee county.

NEWS OF CITY AND COUNTY CONDENSED

Among the visitors to Gainesville is Louis J. Brumby, Ocala, publisher of The Florida Fruit and Truck Grower, and one of the most widely known newspaper men in the State. He made The Sun an agreeable call yesterday. Friends of Mr. Brumby will be glad to learn that he is making good in his work, which is destined to benefit the agriculturist and stockman.

Among the visitors to this city yesterday was Prof. F. H. Ellis, for several years a prominent school teacher in Alachua county, but who later decided to relinquish this avocation for farming. Prof. Ellis makes a success at whatever he undertakes, with the result that he is making some money even at tilling the soil, which he good-naturedly declares is the most independent life on earth. He brought a load of chickens, which he disposed of readily at a fine price.

BOY CAME NEAR DROWNING.

Infant Son of Dr. Hicks Had Narrow Escape.

[Starke Telegraph.]

Dashwood, the infant son of Dr. and Mrs. P. D. Hicks, came near drowning Monday in a tub of water. The little fellow is just large enough to walk, and while in the yard with his father stole around the house and began to play in the tub of water. When found a few minutes later by the father he was standing on his head in the tub, scrambling to get out. Dr. Hicks snatched him up and had the presence of mind to stand him on his head, allowing the water to run out of his lungs. The little fellow had swallowed about a quart of water and would have drowned in a very short time.

YOUNG LADY KILLED BY SEABOARD TRAIN

Sad Accident Occurred Near Jacksonville Saturday.

GIRL LIVED NEAR MARIETTA

The Unfortunate Young Lady Was on Her Way to a Neighbor's With Her Sisters and Brother When She Was Suddenly Dashed Into Eternity.

The Jacksonville Metropolis of yesterday relates the following account of the accidental killing of a young lady near that city:

"With her neck and back broken and several bones fractured, the lifeless body of Alice Moseley, a young lady seventeen years of age, lying near the tracks of the Seaboard Air Line railway last night, and her heartbroken parents and other members of the family bending in grief over her prostrate form, was a distressing scene one mile south of Marietta, in this county.

"The young lady was killed by an in-coming passenger train of the Seaboard Air Line from River Junction, due to reach the city at 7:30 o'clock. The accident happened about six miles west of the city and has caused general sorrow in the neighborhood where the young lady resided and where she was highly esteemed.

"The father, E. Moseley, a farmer, who resides near Marietta, was at the undertaking parlors of D. E. Cooper this morning securing a casket for the body of his daughter, and between sobs he told a Metropolis reporter of the affair, which has caused his family to lose one of its brightest and most beloved members.

"According to Mr. Moseley, his dead daughter and sister, Mamie, twenty-two years of age, another sister named May, eleven years old, and a brother named Alva, aged fourteen years, left home to visit Mrs. Altman, in order to get her to do some shopping for them. While the party was at the crossing and were going across the track the engine rushed down upon them, throwing Miss Alice to the roadway, and also injuring, but not seriously, her younger sister, May. When the train had passed the others rushed to the body of Miss Alice, but she was lifeless.

"The father says that he has witnesses who will testify that the train did not slacken its speed on nearing the crossing, and did not blow the whistle. He also says that witnesses say the engine did not have a headlight.

"The funeral of Miss Moseley and the interment will take place at Gravely Hill tomorrow morning."

SEA ISLAND COTTON.

Fancy Staple in Demand, But No Improvement in Receipts.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 23.—The market was firm for fancy Georgias and Floridas, but dull and easy for the other grades. The demand was for the higher grade, but some of the lower grades were worked off along with the fancy. Quotations are at previous outside figures for fancy and extra choice Floridas, and are unchanged for the rest.

No improvement is shown in the quality of the receipts, high grades being evidently very scarce in this crop.

The ginners' report showed ginned to November 14 this year 42,708 bales, against 30,671 bales last year and 64,103 bales in 1905. By States the report showed Florida, 14,492; Georgia, 22,681; South Carolina, 5,535. The Florida yield is apparently short, and the prevalent estimate of the total crop is now about 80,000 bales.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Governor Broward Issues Annual Proclamation, Thursday, November 28.

The President of the United States of America having by proclamation designated Thursday, November 28, 1907, as a National Day of Thanksgiving; now, therefore, pursuant to established custom, I, Napoleon B. Broward, Governor of the State of Florida, do hereby designate and appoint said day as Thanksgiving Day, and do earnestly request that it be so observed throughout the State.

The past year has been one of peace and prosperity. Both our Nation and our State have made steady progress. We as a people have trodden the path of peace, and it has been our lot to abide within the realm of plenty. Our commerce has steadily expanded, and each rising sun has found us a step nearer the realization of that ideal commonwealth of which true statesmen in all ages have dreamed, and in the hope of attaining which our forefathers staked all that life held precious, and even life itself, in the fickle lottery of revolution and rebellion.

Our harvest has fulfilled the roseate promise of the seed-time; our fields have yielded abundantly of sheaf and fleece; our orchards have come to glad and bountiful fruition; while forest, mine and ocean have helped to swell the industrial resources of a happy and contented people. Our cities have grown in size and magnificence; our harbors have been deepened and improved; our institutions of learning have been increased in their scope and power for good; wise and equitable laws have been enacted; honest toil has received its well deserved reward; and all things seem to have conspired together for our good. No pestilence has left its blot upon the past. No war-clouds mar our vision of the future. Great opportunities lie all around us, and greater ones spring into existence at the birth of each new day. True it is that misfortune has befallen some of our citizens. There are and ever have been instances where hope has proved elusive and promise has been abortive. Into the lives of some the iron of sorrow has entered like a pitiless sword-thrust, and the idols of many hearts have been shattered in spite of all that boundless love and undying devotions could interpose. These are the minor chords in the music of our thanksgiving, but let us hope that in the fullness and harmony of life's glorious symphony of praise each will find its place. Even these misfortunes are not without accompanying blessings. Adversity discovers to us new friends, and sorrow brings to our aid true comrades whom we had hitherto regarded as disinterested strangers. The true man or woman grows better under the chastisement of grief; failure points the way to success, and sorrow leads to a nobler, higher life. Whatever else may be said, there are none who can gainsay that the good has outweighed evil; that there has been more smiles than tears; that the sun has shone oftener than it has been obscured; and the conscientious effort for good has not been disappointed.

For all this good which has fallen to our lot, and for all the inspiring promise with which the future lures us on to new conquests and rich blessings, I earnestly recommend that Thanksgiving Day our citizens abstain from their usual vocations, and, meeting in their homes and accustomed places of worship, give thanks to Almighty God for his many mercies and blessings conferred upon us.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Tallahassee, the capitol, this the ninth day of November, A. D. 1907.

(Great Seal) N. B. BROWARD.

By the Governor—Attest:

H. CLAY CRAWFORD,
Secretary of State.

Macon, Ga., Nov. 23.—T. Bridges, a white citizen of [illegible] Monroe county, is [illegible] in jail in Macon, charged with murder as the result of a shooting affray in a house [illegible] near the Southern depot. Mrs. [illegible] Driscoll, also known [illegible] Julia Wiggins, was the [illegible] shot fired [illegible] through her [illegible] on the floor when Patrolman Robertson was enabled to make a full investigation. Numbers of witnesses said Bridges shot the woman when she cursed him, but the prisoner claims to have fired accidentally without intending to harm the woman.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

If Old Sores were due to outside influences, or if the cause were strictly to the diseased flesh around the ulcer, then external treatment, simple cleanliness would cure them. But the trouble is in the blood; it has become unhealthy and diseased, and keeps the sore open by discharging into it the impurities and poisons with which the blood is filled. This poisonous condition of the blood may be the result of constitutional trouble; the effect of a long spell of sickness or unnatural refuse of the body, which should pass off through the pores, has been left in the system and absorbed into the blood. A sore may be hereditary; but it does not matter how the poison becomes fixed in the blood, the fact that the sore will not heal is evidence of a deep-seated ing cause. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may cause the place to heal temporarily, but the blood is not purer by such treatment, and soon the inflammation and discharge will return, the sore be as bad or worse than before. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, cleanses and purifies the blood, makes a permanent cure. S. S. S. builds up and freshens the circulation so that instead of discharging unhealthy matter into the place, it carries rich, tissue-building, flesh-healing blood to the diseased parts and in every way assists in the cure of the sore. FIRE LOSS OF $100,000.

Lumber Village in West Virginia Almost Wiped Out.

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 23—Oceana, a lumbering village of 400 inhabitants located about 50 miles south of here, was almost entirely destroyed by fire Thursday night which started in the Kelly hotel from an unknown cause.

The town had no fire fighting facilities and the blaze spread rapidly. The loss will exceed $100,000.

Biliousness and Constipation.

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all druggists.

Examiner Takes Charge of Bank.

Globe, Arizona, Nov. 23.—The First National bank of this city, with deposits of $750,000, was dropped from the Globe clearing house association Thursday night, and did not open on Friday morning. This leaves no national bank in operation here, the Globe National bank having closed its doors three weeks ago. The heavy drawing of exchange since the Globe National bank suspended is believed to be the cause of the suspension. National Bank Examiner J. H. Page took charge of the bank.

At the request of the business men of Ocala, the banking institutions of that city have organized a clearing house and are now issuing clearing house certificates. As told by The Ocala Democrat, "this request was made of our banks, not because they were unable to meet the demands made upon them, but that the finances of the county might be made more elastic, thereby rendering it more easy to move the cotton and other commodities and to better prepare all of the people to further their business affairs without the embarrassments incident to times of money stringency. The banks have gotten together and elected S. A. Hinely, H. M. Dickinson and W. J. Hillman as trustees. They have joined the Clearing House Association and in answer to the request made of them, issued today the bright, new certificates which are in circulation throughout the county and are fully serving the purpose of ready cash in the hands of the people. We have been fortunate enough to get hold of them. That they are as good dollar for dollar as any greenback ever issued by Uncle Sam, no one has any right or can question."

SEABOARD AND INTERIOR.

In the accomplishment of the work of improvement of the inland waterways and the harbors of the United States seaboard and interior will be united in a way impossible of accomplishment by any other means of transportation, yet without impinging on freight offerings properly belonging to the railway while relieving the commercial, the manufacturing and the agricultural interests of the country from freight congestions, that, inevitably, bring loss to producer and consumer. Unless there are continuous, cheap and safe means of transportation, the value of the product is diminished, there is loss to the consumer and the rightful development of the resources of the country are retarded to the serious injury of all classes and conditions of trade and commerce.

Until the organization of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, inland waterway and harbor improvements were undertaken as projects peculiarly beneficial to particular localities. But in the very fact that only projects were brought to the attention of the Congress of the United States the projects, not regarding undoubted merit, often failed of the recognition they deserved. Under a policy national in is scope the stream with tonnage-bearing capacity, no less than the stream with present tonnage, will receive adequate appropriations based on merit, on capacity for development and on the report of the Board of Engineers of the United States Army.

It is that broad and thoroughly national policy to which the National Rivers and Harbors Congress is committed. That policy will be made more completely manifest during its coming session at the New Willard in the city of Washington, on December 4, 5 and 6. The Congress stands for adequate appropriations for river and harbor improvement suggesting that not less than $50,000,000 be set apart each year for the work and that it be prosecuted systematically and persistently until completed, with each yearly step relieving freight congestions, making rightful development assured and giving to the producer a certainty of means of cheap and continuous transportation to a market.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING.

A sensible woman in New York, a worker in an associated charities organization, has sent out some rules about Christmas shopping which are worth reading, says The Washington Herald. Her main purpose is to save the strain on children, clerks, and working people generally to whom the Christmas season is a nightmare on account of the hurry and rush of a crowd of frenzied shoppers who put off to the last day what can be done much better weeks before the holidays. Here are her suggestions:

First—Do as much as possible of your shopping before Dec. 1.

Second—Have it all done one week before Christmas.

Third—Shop early in the day.

Fifth—Do not ask to have parcels delivered on the day of purchase.

Sixth—Do not ask to have articles sent home on approval.

If these rules were followed by even a fair proportion of people who can do so as well as not, says a New York paper, it would work a great relief. There are those, of course, who love the stern struggle which is needed to satisfy their demands in the last few days of the rush of Christmas buying but anybody who can persuade the public to do every part of this work well in advance is a benefactor of the human race. We are glad to do our share in urging a reform that is so well worth while.

CARNEGIE AS SANTA CLAUS.

"The Carnegies always come home from their castle in Scotland in time to celebrate Christmas in New York," says Mabel Potter Daggett in The December Delineator. "When Santa Claus arrives, he knows a little girl lives here by the red swing that hangs in one corner of the Italian garden among the marbles and rare shrubbery. Margaret is what seems along Fifth Avenue very intimate with her father and mother. On Christmas eve the 'laird of Skibo' and his wife hang their stockings along with her's in the nursery. And I can imagine his little daughter hustling Andrew Carnegie out in the early morning in bathrobe and slippers to see what Santa has left. Once he brought the most beautiful brush and comb you ever saw, in a toilet set of gold that cost two thousand dollars. On the afternoon of Christmas day there is a tree in the great drawing-room. The family enter, preceded by a Scotch musician playing Scotch airs on real Scotch bagpipes. Santa Claus himself presently is there. But it is a curious fact that just before he arrives, Andrew Carnegie has an engagement outside. Two years ago, Santa Claus with his red coat sprinkled with cotton to look like snow, caught fire from some of the decorations. The nurses and the governesses hurried Margaret away so that she should not see the catastrophe. There was quite a time putting out the fire. And it was a strange coincidence, but for a week or more afterward, Mr. Carnegie went around with his hand done up in a bandage."

It is suggested that the Mormon leaders have been supplied with a new revelation; the Gentile voters did it.

It may be worth all it cost—the financial stringency has closed a big graphophone factory.

MEANS MUCH FOR THE SOUTH.

Baltimore, Nov. 23.—In this week's issue of the Manufacturers' Record Mr. Edwin C. Eckel, formerly chief of the iron-ore division of the United States Geological Survey, discussing the entrance of the United States Steel corporation into the south says:

"The acquisition of the Tennessee company marks a transition point not only in the career of the Steel corporation, but in the development of the southern iron industry. The affairs of the Steel corporation now become national in scope, and its control of important southern properties must inevitably influence its future policy. The effect on the southern iron situation will, however, be more immediate and more impressive. To the south the entrance of the Steel corporation into the Alabama iron trade means greater steadiness in market conditions, more rapid development of finishing capacity and the consequent rise of important secondary manufactures. It also means—and this effect will probably be the most immediate and most striking—a rapid enhancement in values of Southern iron ore and coal lands."

Recalling the gradual absorption which has been going on for the last year or two of iron-ore properties in the south, Mr. Eckel says:

"Few realize how far this purchasing movement has been carried, and fewer still appreciate the fact that it differs very markedly from previous occurrences in this line. The point of difference lies in the fact that the recent land purchases have been made by existing iron and steel companies, or by groups of capitalists amply able to hold the properties acquired until time shows a substantial profit on the investment.

Ore lands so held will never again reach the open market, but will in future figure simply as items in new consolidations or extensions of existing companies."

And discussing the fact that some independent interests connected with the northern iron trade have become holders of southern coal and iron-ore lands, he says that "this movement will be greatly accelerated by the entrance of the Steel corporation and that its more prominent competitors will endeavor to strengthen their ore reserves as rapidly as possible."

Rev. Thomas Clark Says Earth Will Be Destroyed in 1908.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 23.—A special to the Sentinel from Bristol, Tenn., says:

Rev. Thomas Clark, of Abingdon, Va., preacher, politician and prophet, who foretold the eruption of Mount Pelee, the destruction of Galveston, Tex., and other calamities, has made a prdiction that the earth will be destroyed early next year and that men high in the councils of the nation will shortly fall the victims of assassins' bullets. He also predicts that there shortly will be another outbreak in the Philippines, and that New York city will be partially destroyed by fire early in December.

Opening of Line Delayed.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 23.—The opening of the electric street railroad lines in this city has been delayed indefinitely owing to the suspension of the credit of the Ross and Westinghouse concern, which is to furnish certain cars or equipment without cash payments. A proposition that the municipality assume the contract obligations incurred has been made to the board of aldermen of St. Petersburg.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Florida Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Florida readers.

A. Oerting, seaman, of 419 L. street, Pensacola, Fla., tells how to do it. He says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can strongly recommend them to anyone in need of a good medicine for the kidneys. Kidney complaint and backache caused me suffering at intervals for years. The first or second attack I did not mind, but as time went by they grew worse and at times laid me up. I could hardly walk and it was a difficult matter to straighten up after stooping, while the kidney secretions were irregular and unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. From personal experience I know that this remedy can be depended upon to fulfill the representations made for it."

Lumber Rates Reduced.

Enid, Okla., Nov. 23.—A reduction on the rate of lumber of nearly 50 per cent was ordered by the interstate commission Thursday afternoon. J. F. Gentry, who owns lumber mills in Texas and yards in Nashville, Okla., had been charged a rate of 49½ cents between the points. After hearing the evidence attorneys for four roads over which lumber was shipped agreed to the rate asked, 28½ cents. It was charged that the high rate had been put in effect to drive out the independent dealers.

This is Worth Remembering.

—Copyright, 1907, The Delineator, New York—

"When a change comes in things sartorial—a change that is diametrically opposed to everything that goes before it—the natural psychological process is a graduation from amused interest, through reluctant admiration to final enthusiastic adoption. Especially is this true of Americans. This is what I predict for the new skirt which the great Paquin has lately launched and which is all the rage in Paris." So writes Mrs. Osborn in the December Delineator.

This skirt is suggestive of the sheathing of several years ago, but differs from it in the slight fulness deftly introduced in the front. The figure is outlined and its graceful contour is emphasized by this model, which is, in reality, only an adaptation of the century-old Directoire style. The coat that usually accompanies this skirt is also descended from that period, a short-waisted, fanciful affair—frivolous, if you will—with full cutaway skirts, and made elaborate with much trimming.

The original Paquin skirt is high-waisted, and sweeps the floor all around with extra length at the back, but there will be modifications of this to suit American ideas of practicality. It seems superfluous to say that this skirt is designed for supple fabrics of the nature of crepe de Chine, liberty satin, messaline, radium, light-weight armure or ottoman, marquisette and broadcloth and velvet of chiffon weight. No trimming whatever appears on these skirts, although perhaps a flat facing at the foot or two of three tucks would not be out of harmony.

The cutaway coat is a smart, jaunty garment that is having much vogue this season, and its lines are very pleasing. It is usually made to fit snugly and may have a vest or be made quite plain, as preferred. Louis coats and redingotes of the Directoire type are made with revers outlining vests of heavy ottoman or moire silk, over which fall lace jabots knotted at the top. Large buttons of beautiful designs and colors appear on these coats, some of them of great value.

A novel design, showing the season's tendency toward unusual lines, is cut in three-quarter length with an inverted box plait at each side of the back stitched flat at the top and falling below, giving a short-waisted effect. This suggestion is further accentuated by three buttons and loops [illegible] Another coat made from this design was braided back and sleeves—to give a bolero [illegible] and moire coats are [illegible] broadcloth and plaid [illegible] of them quite plain and [illegible] elaborate with lace, etc. Military braiding [illegible] are very smart, and becoming to some figures.

[illegible] having some vogue, and [illegible] with loose Japanese [illegible] used for dressy evening [illegible] of these garments [illegible] daintier than the outside [illegible] of white, or pale-tinted [illegible] with lace insets [illegible] ribbon, velvet, etc. [illegible] is a warm interlining [illegible] eiderdown or broad- [illegible] of all kinds are made up [illegible] short, medium and long [illegible] to full-length coats, and [illegible] del that is not followed, from the plainest to the most intricate in design.

As the season advances, there is a tendency toward rich and heavy fabrics for dinner and reception gowns in place of the gauzy, filmy materials that have long held sway. This does not mean that tulle and chiffon have lost their vogue—they are too becoming to be put aside entirely, and far more youthful in appearance than the richer fabrics—but that more of the brocades, velvets, silks and satins will be seen than have been for some time. Of course these fabrics are only suitable for matrons, and young girls will cling to the more youthful materials. Spangled and sequined nets and gauzes will be very popular, and chenille embroidery is often used in connection with the metallic and beaded effects.

An exquisite dinner gown ordered for a middle-aged woman was of chenille-embroidered black Brussels net with crystal seeding mounted on a lavender silk princess slip. A girdle of crystal bugles was knotted loosely about the waist, and a corresponding band finished the open neck and short sleeves. A shaded lavender scarf accompanied this exquisite creation.

For a young matron, a charming dress of brown and gold brocaded velvet was originated. The beauty of this gown was its absolute plainness, accentuating the richness of the material. Made in princess style, it conformed perfectly to the curves of the figure, and fell in long, sweeping folds in a demitrain. The back closing, invisibly made with small hooks and eyes, was concealed under the slong ends of a shaded brown chiffon scarf which lay in folds about the low, round neck, and was secured at the center of the back by a diamond crescent. A roll of chiffon also served to finish the sleeves.

In direct contrast to this rich gown, yet quite as simple in effect, was a youthful frock of yellow Byzantine crepe with floral border. An underdress of chiffon veiled the silk foundation over which the dress was made, giving a cloud-like suggestion. The border of the material was so manipulated as to form a finish for the edge of the pointed overskirt, bretelles for the waist, and to outline the Japanese armholes. A girdle of velvet matching the deepest tone in the flowers concealed the union of waist and skirt and a chou of the same velvet was arranged at the center of the front, at the base of the V neck.

The large hats that dominate the styles in millinery this season call for quantities—or simulated quantities—of hair, the deficiencies of nature being made up by puffs, rolls, braids, rats and fancy ornaments. Often times is it found necessary to add a puff or two after the hat is adjusted, in order to get just the effect desired.

The key-note of present-day dress is attention to the ensemble, the details, of course, being most important, but each considered in its relation to the final product and elaborated upon or toned down as the completed picture may demand.

ABANDONS LAW PRACTICE.

Prominent Young Attorney Has Too Tender a Heart for Profession.

Waterbury, Conn., Nov. 23.—Declaring that he can no longer bear to witness the suffering of clients who are forced to seek a lawyer's advice on account of troubles, Joseph S. Lauber has abandoned the practice of law and announced that he will engage in some occupation where the sights he sees are less pitiable.

"The nervous strain of the average lawyer's general practice is too much for any man, unless he is singularly callous and cold-hearted," said Mr. Lauber. "The shifting of a client's troubles to the shoulders of his attorney not only stirs sympathies to the depths, but burdens him with responsibility which is sometimes killing."

Boy Mangled in Shafting.

Covington, Ga., Nov. 23.—Luke Mamby, a white boy aged 15 years, of age, employed in the Covington mill, was caught in a running belt in the mill Thursday afternoon and was badly mangled. Young Mamby was assisting in putting on one of the main belts when he was caught and carried over the shafting in the top of the building, completely tearing off all his clothing and shoes. Both legs were broken, and it is thought he received internal injuries. Several of his toes were torn from his feet.

Strike Has Ended.

Calcutta, Nov. 23.—The strike of the employees of the East Indian railway at Asansol, Bengal, at the junction of the East Indian and Bengal-Nagpur railway, has collapsed with the summary dismissal of some of the European leaders of the movement. Most of the engineers promptly resumed work and traffic, which had been at a standstill for a week, was re-established.

STOP WOMAN AND CONSIDER

First, that almost every operation in our hospitals, performed upon women, becomes necessary because of neglect of such symptoms as Backache, Irregularities, Displacements, Pain in the Side, Dragging Sensations, Dizziness and Sleeplessness.

Second, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has cured more cases of female ills than any other one medicine known. It regulates, strengthens and restores women's health and is invaluable in preparing women for child-birth and during the period of Change of Life.

Third, the great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time being published by special permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

For more than 30 years has been curing Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and Organic Diseases, and it dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law, Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health. Write today, don't wait until too late.

PROTEST AGAINST RATES.

Senator Lafollette Will Champion Interests of Lumber Men.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 22.—United States Senator Robert M. Lafollette of Wisconsin, has offered to appear before the interstate commerce commission at Washington next month and speak in behalf of the northwestern lumbermen in their fight against the Hill and Harriman roads, protesting against the ten cent advance in freight rates on lumber and shingles. He also offers to champion on the floors of the United States senate an amendment to the interstate commerce commission act providing that all the freight tariffs must be passed upon by the commission before being put into effect.

Grand Jury After Gamblers.

Macon, Ga., Nov. 23.—Thursday's work proved far more interesting to the members of the grand jury of Bibb than that of Wednesday, as far as the warm times for the gamblers were concerned. The work of the morning resulted in a still larger number of indictments, and the sheriff's office was kept busy serving papers. Many cases have been made through the work of the grand jury. When the criminal session of the court is started next week, a large number of accused persons will appear whom the general public has heretofore little suspected.

A Methodist Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Passes $75,000,000 Mark.

New York, Nov. 23.—Shipments of foreign gold to relieve the money stringency in the United States Friday passed the $75,000,000 mark when Lazard Freres announced that he had completed negotiations for an additional $2,000,000. Goldman, Sachs & Co. also engaged $500,000, a portion of it in Paris. This brings the total to $76,250,000.

A Good Liniment.

When you need a good, reliable liniment try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It has no superior for sprains and swellings. A piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm is superior to a plaster for lame back or pains in the side or chest. It also relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible. MEANS MUCH FOR THE SOUTH.

Baltimore, Nov. 23.—In this week's issue of the Manufacturers' Record Mr. Edwin C. Eckel, formerly chief of the iron-ore division of the United States Geological Survey, discussing the entrance of the United States Steel corporation into the south says:

"The acquisition of the Tennessee company marks a transition point not only in the career of the Steel corporation, but in the development of the southern iron industry. The affairs of the Steel corporation now become national in scope, and its control of important southern properties must inevitably influence its future policy. The effect on the southern iron situation will, however, be more immediate and more impressive. To the south the entrance of the Steel corporation into the Alabama iron trade means greater steadiness in market conditions, more rapid development of finishing capacity and the consequent rise of important secondary manufactures. It also means—and this effect will probably be the most immediate and most striking—a rapid enhancement in values of Southern iron ore and coal lands."

Recalling the gradual absorption which has been going on for the last year or two of iron-ore properties in the south, Mr. Eckel says:

"Few realize how far this purchasing movement has been carried, and fewer still appreciate the fact that it differs very markedly from previous occurrences in this line. The point of difference lies in the fact that the recent land purchases have been made by existing iron and steel companies, or by groups of capitalists amply able to hold the properties acquired until time shows a substantial profit on the investment.

Ore lands so held will never again reach the open market, but will in future figure simply as items in new consolidations or extensions of existing companies."

And discussing the fact that some independent interests connected with the northern iron trade have become holders of southern coal and iron-ore lands, he says that "this movement will be greatly accelerated by the entrance of the Steel corporation and that its more prominent competitors will endeavor to strengthen their ore reserves as rapidly as possible."

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Florida Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Florida readers.

A. Oerting, seaman, of 419 L. street, Pensacola, Fla., tells how to do it. He says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can strongly recommend them to anyone in need of a good medicine for the kidneys. Kidney complaint and backache caused me suffering at intervals for years. The first or second attack I did not mind, but as time went by they grew worse and at times laid me up. I could hardly walk and it was a difficult matter to straighten up after stooping, while the kidney secretions were irregular and unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. From personal experience I know that this remedy can be depended upon to fulfill the representations made for it."

Lumber Rates Reduced.

Enid, Okla., Nov. 23.—A reduction on the rate of lumber of nearly 50 per cent was ordered by the interstate commission Thursday afternoon. J. F. Gentry, who owns lumber mills in Texas and yards in Nashville, Okla., had been charged a rate of 49½ cents between the points. After hearing the evidence attorneys for four roads over which lumber was shipped agreed to the rate asked, 28½ cents. It was charged that the high rate had been put in effect to drive out the independent dealers.

PAQUIN, THE GREAT,

.....LAUNCHES NEW DESIGN.....

This Time It Is a Skirt, Already the Rage in Paris, of Which Mrs. Osborn Heartily Approves—New Gowns, Hats and Coats Also Described.

—Copyright, 1907, The Delineator, New York—

"When a change comes in things sartorial—a change that is diametrically opposed to everything that goes before it—the natural psychological process is a graduation from amused interest, through reluctant admiration to final enthusiastic adoption. Especially is this true of Americans. This is what I predict for the new skirt which the great Paquin has lately launched and which is all the rage in Paris." So writes Mrs. Osborn in The December Delineator.

This skirt is suggestive of the sheathless of several years ago, but differs from it in the slight fulness deftly introduced in the front. The figure is outlined and its graceful contour is emphasized by this model, which is, in reality, only an adaptation of the century-old Directoire style. The coat that usually accompanies this skirt is also descended from that period, a short-waisted, fanciful affair—frivolous, if you will—with full cutaway skirts, and made elaborate with much trimming.

The original Paquin skirt is high-waisted, and sweeps the floor all around, with extra length at the back, but there will be modifications of this to suit American ideas of practicality. It seems superfluous to say that this skirt is designed for supple fabrics of the nature of crepe de Chine, liberty satin, messaline, radium, light-weight armure or ottoman, marquisette and broadcloth and velvet of chiffon weight. No trimming whatever appears on these skirts, although perhaps a flat facing at the foot or two or three tucks would not be out of harmony.

The cutaway coat is a smart, jaunty garment that is having much vogue this season, and its lines are very pleasing. It is usually made to fit snugly and may have a vest or be made quite plain, as preferred. Louis coats and redingotes of the Directoire type are made with revers outlining vests of heavy ottoman or moire silk, over which fall lace jabots knotted at the top. Large buttons of beautiful designs and colors appear on these coats, some of them of great value.

A novel design, showing the season's tendency toward unusual lines, is cut in three-quarter length with an inverted box plait at each side of the back stitched flat at the top and flaring below, giving a short-waisted effect. This suggestion is further accented by three buttons and loops. Another coat made from this design was braided back, front and sleeves—to give a bolero effect. Velvet and moire coats are made of broadcloth and plaid and them quite plain and elaborate with lace, etc. Military braiding and frogs are very smart, and becoming to some figures.

Capes are having some vogue, and are much used for dressy evening wear, the linings of these garments being daintier than the outside, of white, or pale-tinted satin, elaborately decorated with lace insets and ribbon, velvet, etc. There is a warm interlining of eiderdown or broadcloth. Capes of all kinds are made up in short, medium and long, and into full-length coats, and there is a demand that is not followed from the plainest to the most intricate in design.

As the season advances, there is a tendency toward rich and heavy fabrics for dinner and reception gowns in place of the gauzy, filmy materials that have long held sway. This does not mean that tulle and chiffon have lost their vogue—they are too becoming to be put aside entirely, and far more youthful in appearance than the richer fabrics—but that more of the brocades, velvets, silks and satins will be seen than have been for some time. Of course these fabrics are only suitable for matrons, and young girls will cling to the more youthful materials. Spangled and sequined nets and gauzes will be very popular, and chenille embroidery is often used in connection with the metallic and beaded effects.

An exquisite dinner gown ordered for a middle-aged woman was of chenille-embroidered black Brussels net with crystal seeding mounted on a lavender silk princess slip. A girdle of crystal bugles was knotted loosely about the waist, and a corresponding band finished the open neck and short sleeves. A shaded lavender scarf accompanied this exquisite creation.

For a young matron, a charming dress of brown and gold brocaded velvet was originated. The beauty of this gown was its absolute plainness, accentuating the richness of the material. Made in princess style, it conformed perfectly to the curves of the figure, and fell in long, sweeping folds in a demitrain. The back closing, invisibly made with small hooks and eyes, was concealed under the long ends of a shaded brown chiffon scarf which lay in folds about the low, round neck, and was secured at the center of the back by a diamond crescent. A roll of chiffon also served to finish the sleeves.

In direct contrast to this rich gown, yet quite as simple in effect, was a youthful frock of yellow Byzantine crepe with floral border. An underdress of chiffon veiled the silk foundation over which the dress was made, giving a cloud like suggestion. The border of the material was so manipulated as to form a finish for the edge of the pointed overskirt, bretelles for the waist, and to outline the Japanese armholes. A girdle of velvet matching the deepest tone in the flowers concealed the union of waist and skirt and a choux of the same velvet was arranged at the center of the front, at the base of the V neck.

The large hats that dominate the styles in millinery this season call for quantities—or simulated quantities—of hair, the deficiencies of nature being made up by puffs, rolls, braids, rats and fancy ornaments. Sometimes it is found necessary to add a puff or two after the hat is adjusted in order to get just the effect desired. The keynote of present-day dress is attention to the ensemble, the details, of course, being most important, but each considered in its relation to the final product and elaborated upon or toned down as the completed picture may demand.

ABANDONS LAW PRACTICE.

Prominent Young Attorney Has Too Tender a Heart for Profession.

Waterbury, Conn., Nov. 23.—Declaring that he can no longer bear to witness the suffering of clients who are forced to seek a lawyer's advice on account of troubles, Joseph S. Lauber has abandoned the practice of law and announced that he will engage in some occupation where the sights incurred are less pitiable.

"The intense strain of the criminal lawyer's general practice is too much for any man, unless he is stone-hearted, callous, and cold-hearted," said Mr. Lauber. "The shifting of a client's troubles to the shoulders of his attorney not only stirs sympathies to the deepest, but burdens him with responsibilities sometimes killing."

Boy Mangled in Shafting.

Covington, Ga., Nov. 23.—John Manley, a white boy aged 15 years, employed in the Covington mill, was caught in a running belt in the mill Thursday afternoon and was badly mangled. Young Manley was assisting in oiling on one of the mains when he was caught and carried over the shafting in the top of the building, completely tearing off all his clothing and shoes. Both legs were broken, and it is thought he received internal injuries. Several of his toes were torn from his feet.

Strike Has Ended.

Calcutta, Nov. 23. The strike of the employees of the East Indian railway at Asansol, Bengal, at the junction of the East Indian and Bengal-Nagpur railway, has collapsed with the summary dismissal of some of the European leaders of the movement. Most of the engineers promptly resumed work and traffic, which had been at a standstill for a week, was re-established.

Be Charitable

To your horses as well as to yourself. You need not suffer from pains of any sort—your horses need not suffer. Try a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It cures all pains. J. M. Roberts, Bakersfield, Mo., writes: "I have used your liniment for ten years and find it to be the best I have ever used for man or beast." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

STOP WOMAN AND CONSIDER

First, that almost every operation in our hospitals, performed upon women, becomes necessary because of neglect of such symptoms as Backache, Irregularities, Displacements, Pain in the Side, Dragging Sensations, Dizziness and Sleeplessness.

Second, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has cured more cases of female ills than any other one medicine known. It regulates, strengthens and restores women's health and is invaluable in preparing women for child-birth and during the period of Change of Life.

Third, the great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time being published by special permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

For more than 30 years has been curing Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and Organic Diseases, and it dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law, Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health. Write today, don't wait until too late.

PROTEST AGAINST RATES.

Senator Lafollette Will Champion Interests of Lumber Men.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 22.—United States Senator Robert M. Lafollette of Wisconsin has offered to appear before the Interstate commerce commission at Washington next month and speak in behalf of the northwestern lumbermen in their fight against the Hill and Harriman roads, protesting against the ten cent advance in freight rates on lumber and shingles. He also offers to champion on the floors of the United States senate an amendment to the interstate commerce commission act providing that all the freight tariffs must be passed upon by the commission before being put into effect.

Grand Jury After Gamblers.

Macon, Ga., Nov. 23. Thursday's work proved far more interesting to the members of the grand jury of Bibb than that of Wednesday, as far as the warm times for the gamblers were concerned. The work of the morning resulted in a still larger number of indictments, and the sheriff's office was kept busy serving papers. Many cases have been made through the work of the grand jury. When the criminal session of the court is started next week, a large number of accused persons will appear whom the general public has heretofore little suspected.

A Methodist Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home for seven years, and it has always proved to be a reliable remedy. We have found that it would do more than the manufacturers claim for it. It is especially good for croup and whooping cough. Rev. James A. Lewis, Pastor Milaca, Minn., M. E. Church. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is sold by all druggists.

Passes $75,000,000 Mark.

New York, Nov. 23. Engagements of foreign gold to relieve the money stringency in the United States Friday passed the $75,000,000 mark when Lazard Freres announced that it had completed negotiations for an additional $2,000,000. Goldman, Sachs & Co. also engaged $500,000, a portion of it in Paris. This brings the total to $78,250,000.

A Good Liniment.

When you need a good, reliable liniment try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It has no superior for sprains and swellings. A piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm is superior to a plaster for lame back or pains in the side or chest. It also relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible. For sale by all druggists.

Gold for France.

Honolulu, Nov. 23. The steamship Korea which arrived from the Orient Thursday night had $500,000 in Japanese gold aboard for San Francisco.

Dancing Proves Fatal.

Many men and women catch colds at dances which terminate in pneumonia and consumption. After exposure, if Foley's Honey and Tar is taken it will break up a cold and no serious results need be feared. Refuse any but the genuine in a yellow package. J. W. McCollum & Co.
